The War Today...

THE SPEED OF THE RED ADVANCE through White Russia, with the capture of Minsk apparently only a few days away, supporters previous reports that Hitler has withdrawn his major forces to shelter lines back in old Poland—possibly along the Bug river.

Points like Orsha and Mogilev don't really try to hold them, even before such great power as the Russians are displaying. The Berlin radio, broadcasting about an elastic defense in the east, without benefit of reserves until the Allies have been taken care of in the west, also supports the thought.

For a year there have been reports from various sources that the Germans were preparing to stand at the Bug, the "Ribbentrop" border established in 1939, and that if driven back from there a last ditch fight would be made along the Vistula.

This would not mean, of course, an uninterrupted Russian march over the 300 miles from their present central positions, or the 100 miles from their westernmost salient at Kowel, to Brest Litovsk. Large German armies already have been beaten or trapped in the present drive. They are not all gone. Delay will be attempted at every strong point, principally at Minsk, Baranowicz, Bialystok and Brest Litovsk, and there probably will be a tremendous battle for Lwow when the fighting is extended southward.

But, as in Italy, the Germans probably are down to the point where little effort will be made to save territory which obviously cannot be held for long.

The comparative nearness of the war end must be obvious to Hitler as to anyone. If he is to keep going in the hope of some "break" he must gather his weakened forces into a more compact area. The power behind the Russian offensive, the growing Allied strength on the shore of France, pressure from the south with every sign that it will be extended, Allied air superiority, all have dictated his only course.

Whether even this forced concentration will enable him to carry on through the fall and obtain another winter stalemate is open to question. That he can withstand concerted pressure from the channel to the Mediterranean, from the Baltic to the Danube, is out of the question. He apparently knows he would be knocked out of the war by fall if he ever tried it.

HEAT WAVE'S GRIP ON CITY IS UNBROKEN

Official High Here Yesterday Is 93; Ohio Has Record Temperatures

A sweltering, sticky heat continued its hold over Salem and the rest of Ohio today as official recordings showed the thermometer at 85 at noon today.

The maximum here yesterday was 93, making Wednesday one of the hottest days of the summer so far. Higher recordings—some of 100 degrees and over—were reported from various sources throughout the vicinity yesterday as citizens tried to relax, turned on their fans and sought whatever breezes were available.

Traffic was heavier yesterday and crowds continued today to plunge into the water at the Salem Country club and other swimming spots in the vicinity.

The weatherman predicted showers would bring temporary relief from the heat wave which has gripped Ohio for the past two days, shattering all-time records.

Yesterday saw slightly moderating readings in southern Ohio, but central and northern Ohio chalked up new records.

104 In Springfield

Springfield had the highest temperature—104—closely followed by a record-breaking 102 in Columbus. The state capital's previous mark for the month was 100.8 set June 28, 1934.

Cleveland had a record 101 degrees, and the highest reading of the year. The previous record for the date was 100, set in 1934.

At Youngstown the mercury hit 100 degrees for a new June 28 record. The previous high was 99, set 10 years ago.

Toledoans struggled along under a torrid 98, highest mark since June 27, 1941. Dayton likewise had 98 and a record for the date.

Cincinnati was the only city not reporting near-record heat. It was

MRS. LEASE LEAVES LIBRARY POSITION

Mrs. Frank W. Lease, assistant and reference librarian for the Salem public library, has resigned her position to retire and will be succeeded as reference librarian by Miss Ruth Price, who has been head of the Lepper library in Lisbon for the last five years.

Mrs. Lease has served the library for 25 years, after helping in its organization with Mrs. Ashbel Carey in 1919. During her work she has seen the institution expand from 12,000 volumes to its present 30,000 and has assisted in its corresponding increase of program of community service.

Miss Price, a graduate of the Carnegie library school, was a librarian in Chicago and Tacoma, Wash., before going to Lisbon.

MAP HORSE SHOW PLANS FOR JULY 4

By request, the Salem Polo club and Pine Hollow riding academy, co-sponsors of the Fourth annual Salem Horse Show, to be held at the Lisbon fairgrounds at 1:30 p. m., July 4, have added an additional class to their list of competitions.

Now included in the program of events is a class for Tennessee Walking horses, which has been inserted in the program because a number of entries have requested this particular group.

Judge for the affair this season is Harry Fitzpatrick, noted Cleveland horseman and poloist, who served in a similar capacity several years ago.

J. Brooke Votaw, handling entries for the show, said today the event unquestionably would be the largest ever presented.

Columbus To Welcome Bricker; Home Town Is Disappointed

By GWEN RIGGLE

MT. STERLING, June 29.—Ohio's capital prepared a hero's welcome for Gov. John W. Bricker today, but this little farming community a stone's throw from the statehouse was disappointed because its most famous native son won only second place on the Republican ticket.

The town's 1,115 residents relished the opportunity to bask in the reflected glory of the vice presidential nominee, but they made no secret of their belief that the GOP national convention could have done better.

Bricker, they felt, should have been given the top spot on the Republican ticket.

Nomination of New York's Gov. Thomas E. Dewey for the presidency actually shocked Mt. Sterling residents, so confident had been that Bricker would receive first billing.

The Tribune, the town's sole newspaper, stated in today's issue: "Our John made a brilliant fight for the presidential nomination but had to be satisfied with second place. Mt. Sterling is proud of its native son, but its citizens will not be satisfied until they see him occupying the White House."

Fitted for Presidency

White-haired John M. Brockie, Tribune editor, said simply: "We feel our John is fitted for the presidency and it is a bitter blow to see him forced to accept anything else."

A. O. Gillivan, proprietor of the local hardware store and a close friend of Bricker's, said: "Of course we're happy about the whole thing, but we still want to see Bricker in the White House."

And Mayor Paul Hildebrandt, who called himself "a Democrat of sorts," added:

"We wanted Bricker to be president so badly it's hard to get used to thinking in lesser terms."

CHOICE LAMB CUTS AGAIN RATIONED

Soft Cheeses Also Back On List; Beef Steaks and Roasts Up Slightly

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 29.—Housewives will have to take their ration books to market again in buying choice lamb cuts and soft cheeses, and the butcher will take one to two more points a pound for beef steaks and roasts.

The Office of Price Administration, announcing point values for the period from next Sunday through July 29, said today it was necessary to put lamb chops, roasts and steaks back under rationing because national distribution has not been equitable. Values assigned range from three points a pound for some chuck roasts to 10 points for loin chops.

The supply of beef steaks and roasts will be smaller by 12 percent in July, OPA explained in hiking the point values to a record high. A porterhouse steak, for example, will cost 14 points a pound, up two, while a seven-inch-cut standing rib roast goes from eight to 10 points a pound.

Because return of popular lamb cuts to the chart is counter-balanced by a smaller supply of beef, housewives will continue to get only 30 points a month for buying meats and fats. The allotment was 60 points a month before all meat except choice beef was made ration-free early in May.

All pork, veal and the cheaper cuts of beef and lamb remain point-free, and butter and margarine continue at 12 and two points a pound, respectively.

Soft cheeses, the so-called perishable varieties, including swiss and cream, go from a point-free value to four points a pound.

Republicans Laud Ohio Governor For Stepping Aside For Dewey

By H. H. DAUGHERTY

CHICAGO, June 29.—Republican leaders today showered praise on Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio for gracefully stepping aside in favor of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York in the race for the GOP presidential nomination.

The tall, white-haired Ohio chief executive also was hailed as a tough, brilliant campaigner with possibly more vote-getting appeal than any GOP vice presidential candidate in recent history.

Bricker returns to his home at Columbus tonight after being acclaimed as heartily as the presidential nominee.

The Ohio governor was known personally by most of the delegates and they welcomed the opportunity to roar their approval of Bricker as he stepped to the platform to bow out of the presidential picture.

In his acceptance speech Dewey praised Bricker for the gracious manner in which he eliminated himself.

Gov. Bricker's supporters, though keenly disappointed because he failed to land the presidential nomination, were pleased with his decision to accept the lesser position.

Ohioans were particularly gratified to have Bricker on the ticket, since they felt his vote-getting ability would aid materially their fight to keep Ohio in the Republican column for state and local tickets.

Governor and Mrs. Bricker and their son, Jack, occupied seats on the convention stage last night to hear Dewey make the acceptance speech.

End One-Man Rule In America, Is Plea Of Candidate Dewey

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO, June 29.—With the methodical precision of a trial lawyer Thomas E. Dewey tackled his biggest case today. At stake is the presidency.

Wildly cheered by a perspiring but happy convention crowd, Dewey accepted the Republican presidential nomination last night with an appeal to voters "of every party" to help him "bring an end to one-man government in America."

Today's first order of business for Dewey after his quick flight from Albany and a post-convention reception that lasted into the small hours, was a series of conferences with every member of the party's national committee.

The candidate plans to remain here three or four days, mapping campaign strategy with Republican leaders.

As convention crowds headed homeward, all signs pointed toward involvement of a highly organized and unified drive between now and November.

CHICAGO, June 29.—Governor Thomas E. Dewey told what he called the "world's biggest press conference" today that he hopes to confer with all the nation's Republican leaders, including Wendell L. Willkie, on presidential campaign plans.

What dissension there was appeared to melt away when Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio agreed to become Dewey's running mate, instead of his chief contender for top honors, and accepted the vice presidential nomination.

The two clasped hands on the convention stadium platform and exchanged remarks of mutual admiration and confidence in victory.

Typical of the "swelling jubilation" comments was that of Sen. Clyde Reed of Kansas, who said:

"We've got not only a match for Roosevelt but a master on the platform to carry the fight to him on his own terms."

Promises Ablest Cabinet

Youth against age was the predominant theme of Dewey's acceptance speech as he set out to follow Franklin D. Roosevelt's trial from the executive mansion in Albany to the White House via the Chicago nominating conventions. Mr. Roosevelt, too, flew to this city to accept the high honor in 1932.

The 42-year-old former racket-buster, in his opening statement to the American electoral jury last night, promised that "next year our government will again have a cabinet of the ablest men and women to be found in America."

"It's members," he declared, "will expect and will receive full delegation of the powers of their office. They will be capable of administering those powers. They will each be experienced in the task to be done and young enough to do it."

The task of achieving a lasting peace, he declared, "is no task to be entrusted to stubborn men, grown old and tired and quarrelsome in office."

"It seems," he declared, "that the great men who founded this nation really knew what they were talking about when they said that three terms were too many."

Adopt Middle Road Policy

A middle course between international aloofness and full membership in any world state was advocated by the shaggy-browed 1944 standard bearer on the touchy foreign policy issue.

"We are agreed, all of us," he said, "that America will participate with other sovereign nations in a cooperative effort to prevent future wars."

"There are only a very few," he added, "who really believe that America should try to isolate herself from the world. There are only a relatively few who believe it would be practical for America or her Allies to renounce all sovereignty and join a super-state."

Sen. Robert Taft of Ohio, chairman of the platform committee told reporters: "He stands on the platform 100 per cent."

Wendell L. Willkie, who came from behind to beat Dewey for the nomination in 1940 and who recently criticized the foreign policy plank as "ambiguous," congratulated Dewey and said he was "one of the great opportunities of his time."

As his petite brunette wife looked on intently, Dewey, first Republican to win the New York governorship in 20 years, made these other points:

1. The first and foremost job is to win the war, and to defeat "once and for all" the German and Japanese who made war.

JAPS CAPTURE U. S. AIRFIELD

Hengyang Base Falls As Enemy Seeks To Cut China In Two

(By Associated Press)

Japanese troops hammering at Hengyang have captured the U. S. air force base there, thus reaping one of the first major fruits of their drive to slice China in two. It was partial recompense for the progressing American conquest of Saipan in the Pacific.

Chungking, conceding abandonment of the advance fight, reported the vital Chinese city had burst into flames under the pressure of the greatest Japanese China offensive since 1938.

Loss of the base was a hard blow to the Allies, and Maj. Gen. Claire Chennault's fliers quickly retaliated, dropping 1,000-pound bombs from their O-51s and knocking out one runway.

Hengyang, key point on the Hankow-Canton railway, is surrounded. Its loss would greatly advance Japan's presumed aim of bisecting the country along the rail line and blocking the Allies out of coastal China.

Chennault's 14th air force threw all its weight into the Hengyang battle, but Chungking previously acknowledged the Chinese ground defenders were in a critical position.

Twenty thousand Japanese battled with fury to stem American forces slowly wedging them into the northern neck of Saipan island.

Marines and infantrymen advancing up both coasts of Saipan got strong support from U. S. naval and air forces which struck at the Kuriles north of Japan, at the Marianas and the Carolines. Among the specific targets were Guam, Rota, Paramushiro, Shumushu, Tinian and Truk. Enemy air attacks against American warships and transports utterly failed, Adm. Nimitz announced.

BITTER FIGHT IN CAEN AREA IS REPORTED

Germans attempt to Smash Invasion; Nine Counter-Attacks Repulsed

(By Associated Press)

LONDON, June 29.—The German high command said today that the Allies are attacking along a 17-mile front in Normandy.

Fighting is especially violent southwest of Caen, the broadcast communique said, adding that British and Canadian forces had achieved a penetration in wooded country.

(By Associated Press)

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, June 29.—The Germans were reported today to have thrown the bulk of their 15th and 17th armies into the defense of Caen in an attempt to halt the British flanking thrust south of the inland port.

But Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's men smashed nine counter-attacks in 24 hours and widened a breach in the enemy lines.

Supreme headquarters announced British infantry and armor were streaming across the Odon river southwest of Caen in an ever-widening bridgehead.

Field dispatches said the German command had sent virtually the entire strength of the two armies into fierce armored fighting raging on three sides of the city.

Heavy fighting raged at distances of two to four miles from the strongly-defended German base at eastern Normandy. Little change, however, has occurred in the front positions in the past 12 hours.

Map Up In Cherbourg

While British tanks beat against the enemy in a flaming battle at points less than four miles southwest of Caen in an eastward thrust that would strangle the city's communications, other forces battered the enemy from the north and northwest in fighting almost equally as bitter.

Westward the Americans on the Cherbourg peninsula were mopping up isolated resistance in the Cap De La Hague, where it was unofficially estimated that about 3,000 Germans still are holding out.

The bag of prisoners taken there continued to increase. It was officially announced that Germans captured by U. S. forces in France from D-Day to Tuesday night totaled 28,849.

Fighting around Caen in the present stage is a typical big tank battle with none knowing exactly where the front lines are and towns being overrun, only to be retaken a few hours later.

"Every British advance has been met with a most violent local counter-attack," the Supreme command said. "It is to be expected the Germans will make a coordinated major counter-thrust."

It is considered unlikely that the battle for Caen will be decided before Marshal Erwin Rommel makes such an all-out bid.

In the air, the long-dormant German air force sprang into life under a protecting cloak of clouds to support Rommel's desperate bid to drive back the British, but 27 enemy planes were downed.

Indications that the Germans were moving strategic reserves from Germany into France to meet the Allies in Normandy was seen in a heavy RAF bomber attack last night on Metz, a railroad center near the German-French border.

GERMANS LOSE 292 TANKS IN NORMANDY

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, June 29.—The Supreme Allied command announced today that 232 German tanks have been disabled or destroyed in Normandy since D-Day.

Incomplete reports showed at least 44 German aircraft shot down today over France and Germany.

The air forces announced that since D-day "enemy fighter bases supporting the battle area have been driven back 100 miles by Allied air attacks."

Maj. Gen. Huebner Leads First Division in France

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, June 29.—Kansas-born Maj. Gen. Clarence R. Huebner of Washington, D. C., is commanding the U. S. First division in France, headquarters announced tonight.

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, June 29.—Maj. Gen. Charles Hunter Gerhardt, son of a general and veteran of the last war, was revealed today as commander of the American 29th infantry division in action at Normandy.

FOREIGN POLICY LOOPHOLE

Political parties might as well try to wrap up live pigs in newspapers as to try to define the future shape of foreign policy in party platforms. Wendell Willkie, himself, admits it by quoting from the Republican platform of 1920 to prove that the platform of 1944 does not go far enough in his direction. The 1920 platform was a victim of events, like all other hopes of post-war security.

Events shape foreign policy ultimately—events and attitudes. Thus, all of today's fine talk about cooperation and collaboration, which assumes that other governments are going to cooperate and collaborate, would be made meaningless tomorrow if accord ceased to be practical and desirable. The history of the years after World War I is full of incidents showing what happened to the spirit of the League of Nations when it came up against the realities of Great Britain's balance-of-power politics, the schemes of the Japanese, Italian and German aggressors and the standoff rivalry between the United States and British interests in Asia.

Yet, foolishly, many Americans are beginning to believe everything will be lovely if politicians merely put down in multi-syllable words broad statements of intention about foreign policy. They listen, starry-eyed, to promises of collaboration, never stopping to think that the United States hasn't the slightest intention of collaborating with any government which offends it, even if refusal to do so leads to war, as it did in the case of the Axis.

The United States could have had peace with Japan if it had been willing to collaborate and cooperate. Hitler repeatedly offered peace to Europe on the same basis. If England had been interested in collaboration, it would have responded to this government's proposal for action against Japan at the time of the Manchurian incident. If Russia had been collaboration-minded, it would not have helped Germany at the beginning of the war against the Allies. Obviously, each decision on collaboration is conditioned by the interests and principles at stake; there is no such thing as collaboration or cooperation guaranteed in advance.

THE UNSETTLED CLIMATE OF FREEDOM

Herbert Hoover's listeners, knowing he no longer is a menace to anyone's political ambitions, now follow his words with more sympathy and understanding than sometimes have been used. Mr. Hoover has become one of the ablest philosophers of freedom.

It is too bad he didn't say more in his speech to the Republicans Tuesday night about the unsettled climate in which freedom must be maintained. He did say that the "hard task of government, and the really liberal task, is to build self-reliance, stimulate initiative, and thereby create men and women of energy, of dignity and of independence"—but he did not lay enough stress on the responsibility of people, themselves. Freedom cannot be maintained by government, unless freedom's circumstances are preserved by the people.

Sen. Taft a few days ago mentioned that New Deal planning has been adopted to the extent that local planning for post-war projects usually starts with the question of how much money can be milked from the federal government—a statement of obvious fact. If Republicans win control of the federal government this year, it will become their responsibility to restore local rule at the expense of telling local interests to raise their own money. They should realize now that it won't be easy—and they should realize it while they are applauding Mr. Hoover's latest repetition of his theme that freedom is worth saving. He isn't talking through his hat, and they either should understand what he is driving at, or save their applause for the men too people who quit worrying about freedom years ago.

FELLOW ROBOTS

Robot, as applied to the winged bombs being hurled across the English channel by the Germans, is not the exact word, because the bombs in no sense fit the idea behind the word. In fact, both the word and the idea are only hazily understood.

Robot, says Webster, is derived from a Czech word, robota, meaning compulsory work. Its meaning for English-speaking people was established shortly after World War I by Karel Capek's famous play whose title, in the English translation, was "R.U.R. (Rossum's Universal Robots)." It was a satire on the mechanical tendencies of modern civilization—a theme of machinery being put together in the form of men. Hence, machines which take the place of men, or men who resemble machinery in the way they work have come to be known as robots. The best pronunciation; i. e., the most natural—is indicated by the usual sound of r-o-b in English. Thus, the word becomes rob-ut, though it may also be pronounced row-bot and rub-ut, but never row-bo, despite certain radio announcers who suspect it of French derivation.

Probably if Capek had lived—he died in 1938—he would find plenty of evidence in World War II to sharpen his satire on civilization's mechanical tendencies, but probably not Germany's winged bombs, which are little more than rockets with unusually wide range and correspondingly narrow control.

PLATFORMS BUILT TO ORDER

Those who read the Republican platform from beginning to end will find in it assurance that their personal demands have been satisfied and, as far as they can see, the legitimate personal demands of every other voter.

It would be surprising if the platform were not satisfactory. For more than a week a large number of extremely able men and women have been working intensively to make it that way—and their work was preceded by months of proposing, considering and drafting.

It is supposed to be a sign of something wrong that the content of party platforms is taken for granted and seldom examined word by word. On the contrary, it is eminently a sign of something right. The people know in advance that the two major parties will try to reflect their common aspirations and ideals and to voice their fears and criticisms.

If the time ever comes that the platforms must be combed through for unexpected intentions, the United States will have passed out of the era of political reasonableness which makes it possible to hold an election as usual in the midst of history's greatest war.

For Friday, June 30

A DAY of definite progress and achievement is foreseen with abundant increase and expansion all along the line of human aspiration and satisfaction. There may be strongly solidifying and stabilizing influence on the affairs, with concrete and enduring gain in real possessions, finance, credit, and other tangible resources. These should be husbanded for future security and manipulation, by hard work, initiative, perseverance and sound judgment. Cooperation with public or corporate influences, with originality and innovation and there may be surprising returns.

Those whose birthday it is should take advantage of the excellent opportunities of this year for placing their future, its foundations and enjoyments on a firm, enduring and pleasant basis. This may be in both business and private life. Both may be assured auspices of unusual future significance, with promise of abundant expansion, growth, advancement and preferment, while the tangible assets are under signs of gain through investments, real estate, unusual production with enterprise, initiative and concrete aggressiveness under unusual stimuli. Well-organized work and persistence, with good judgment, should win the support of influential institutions and bring generous rewards for merit. Personalities may also be due for exceptional expansion and emotional gratification.

A child born on this day may be bounteously endowed for an efficient, gracious career, with substantial popularity, and many tokens of appreciation and good fortune. It may gain by its own thrift and diligence.

World rehabilitation and our own national requirements will call for further expansion of American production facilities. Our young men after the war will stand on the threshold of a greater opportunity than has existed for any preceding generation. —Charles E. Sorensen, president WillysOverland Motors.

We must not destroy our existing naval power when the war is over, or accept limitations upon our ability to add to it... while others who have no real faith in the possibility of world peace are left free to arm—Secretary of the Navy Forrestal.

Battalion Officer, Commends Salem Soldier, Tells of Servicemen's Activities in Pacific

Mrs. Joseph O'Keefe of R. D. 5, Salem, has received an interesting letter of commendation from Lieut. Col. John R. Crossen, commanding officer of the 135th Field Artillery battalion, with which her brother, Tech. Corp. Stanley Journey, of Salem, is serving in the South Pacific.

Corp. Journey, a former National Sanitary Co. employee, has been in the service three years and has been overseas for two years with the 37th division. He is a veteran of the New Georgia, Guadalcanal and Bougainville campaigns.

The letter from Lieut. Col. Crossen reads: "Your brother, Stanley, has been an important member of this organization for some time and we feel that you should know how we value men like him. Two years overseas is a long time, but we have had the satisfaction of helping to furnish the punch that whipped the Japanese, both in New Georgia and our present base. We have had some difficult times and experiences. We have contended with the jungle, incessant rains, mosquitoes, air raids, enemy shelling and the fanatic Japanese attacks. We have missed our loved ones and the pleasures of our homes and families.

Well-Deserved Rest
"Our men have earned a well-deserved rest. We are attempting to make their life as pleasant as possible under the circumstances, and to a great extent we have overcome the difficulties encountered. We have built a Battalion theater where movies are shown every other evening. There are volleyball and basketball courts and a baseball diamond, ping-pong tables and a library, with an unlimited supply of books where men can spend their leisure time.

"USO shows and various orchestras visit the battalion occasionally. Carved out of the jungle nearby is a service club with complete recreation rooms. Our radio station on the island relays the best programs from the States. An arrangement for further education has been made by the Army, whereby an ambitious young man can ready himself for civilian work or continue his education.

"With the sky and the sea dominated by our air force and Navy we are able to get more and more shipments of fresh foods and meats. Better equipment is available and our men are sheltered comfortably in tents with cots and bedding. There are wells all over the area and with showers constructed from oil drums we are able to bathe daily. A doctor has been assigned to the battalion to take care of the slightest ailment of any of its members.

"When peace has again prevailed over this chaotic world, and your brother has returned to civil life, I am sure he will be proud to have

New Miracle Drug Is In Good Supply

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
BY THE TIME this article gets into print the new germ killer, penicillin, will be as easily available to everyone who needs it as any other drug. The armed forces

Dr. Clendenning will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

have had almost unlimited supplies of it for some time. A few hospitals where the scientific attainments of the staff men were known to be high and satisfactory have been given some samples of it.

At present if a doctor has a patient on whom sulfa drugs have been tried and failed he can usually obtain enough penicillin for trial in that instance. Now that the supply is sufficient this distribution may be made more liberal.

The public doesn't always stop to think of the obstacles in the way of a new drug like this being available. One step, and the step which has just been completed in the case of penicillin, is to select and license manufacturers who are competent to turn out a pure product. Two years ago United States pharmaceutical houses began to be granted licenses for this purpose.

Manufacture of Penicillin
At present there are 13 firms producing penicillin under contract and very shortly it is expected this number will be 22. Even with the great facilities of modern pharmaceutical manufacturing firms this is no more than enough because the usefulness and application of penicillin is very wide indeed. There is hardly any fever or form of infection in which it is not a possibility.

I have seen and studied a few clinical cases in which it was tried and have talked to a good many doctors about it. What impresses one is that even the most conservative of these say that the wildest dreams we held of its usefulness are realized. Not one but several have repeated in so many words that it is better than the sulfa drugs.

It has been told so often that it is hardly necessary to repeat the story of its discovery. Penicillin is a mold, or fungus, such as grows on damp bread. There is hardly one of my readers who has not seen penicillin. It was for years the pest of bacteriologists because it contaminated their culture media. Finally, in 1929, Professor Alexander Fleming made one of those flashes of observation such as have so often started science on a new adventure.

Discovery of Penicillin
It is a moderate calculation that 20,000 laboratory workers and bacteriologists had seen culture media on which staphylococci germs were growing and were contaminated by penicillin mold. But they just looked, they didn't observe anything. Professor Fleming suddenly noticed that where the mold began to grow the pus germs died out. And from that all the research followed.

It would be easier to list the germs in which penicillin is ineffective in killing them off than the ones in which it does work. Most of the germs which penicillin fails to affect are those of tropical diseases, or so rare as to be negligible in routine practice.

We had realized a great dream with the sulfa drugs and supposed that no improvement could be made on them, but as was intimated above, penicillin works on cases where the sulfa drugs have failed.

At this season it is worth noting that it is even effective in tetanus, or lockjaw, the real cause of the mortality of Fourth of July wound contamination. One hardly supposes there will be much celebration of the Fourth this year. There are enough Americans shooting off fireworks in other parts of the world, so that our own plot of earth might be spared. But that sort of dream is probably too much to expect.

Should some enthusiasts decide to have an old fashioned celebration it would be well for the local doctor to see that some penicillin is available with which to treat them when the inevitable injury occurs. He should have some tetanus antitoxins too, but that is only for prevention. Up to the present we have had no methods of treating tetanus in case the preventive did not work. Now we have penicillin.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendenning has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendenning, 235 E. 45th st., New York. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene," and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

Couple Are Married At St. Paul's Church

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Strabala of Lisbon announce the marriage of their daughter, Mildred Alice, to Edward Frank, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Frank of Maximo, in a ceremony at 9:30 a. m. Wednesday.

Rev. Fr. John P. Lavelle officiated at the ceremony in St. Paul's Catholic church here.

Attendants were Miss Mary Fink, niece of the bride, and Bernard Frank, a brother of the groom, with Alfred Fink and Robert Frank, the groom's brother, as ushers.

The bride wore a white mouseline de sole gown with fitted bodice and full skirt, trimmed with lace inserts and a fingertip illusion veil arranged in a crown of the material. Her bouquet was of white roses and baby's breath.

The bride's attendant wore a blue mouseline de sole dress and carried blue and yellow marigolds and baby's breath.

Mrs. Frank Strabala, mother of the bride, in flowered chiffon and Mrs. Frank, the groom's mother, in blue and white flowered print, wore coronas of gardenias and honey-suckle.

Following the ceremony a dinner was held at Guilford grange hall. The bride's table was centered with a three-tier wedding cake topped with miniature bridal couple. Other tables were attractive with arrangements of garden flowers.

A reception was held in the afternoon at the home of the bride's parents.

The couple left for a short wedding trip and on their return will make their home on a farm a mile west of Maximo. For traveling the bride wore a flowered print dress with white accessories.

The groom is associated with the Transue-Williams Co., Alliance. Guests from Youngstown, Sharon, Pa., and Harrisburg, O., attended the ceremony and reception.

Rescuers nearing airmen in canyon

GRAND CANYON, Ariz., June 29.—The Colorado river raging at flood stage thwarted attempts of two rescue parties to save three paratroopers camped on a Grand canyon plateau but seasoned rangers, a mountaineer and army personnel were descending into the gorge today hopeful by the hour of reaching the men.

Ed Laws, veteran ranger, and Dr. A. A. MacCrae, expert mountaineer, left the north rim of the chasm yesterday and moved downward through fissures in the rock toward the marooned airmen's shelter.

Rescuers were heartened yesterday by signals and radio messages from the plateau indicating the three were in excellent condition despite more than a week's isolation in the shadowy gorge. Two-way radios were dropped from a plane and almost immediately they broadcast assurances of good health.

Second Quarter "T" Gas Coupons to Be Replaced

WASHINGTON, June 29.—"T" gasoline coupons marked 2nd Qtr. (quarter) will be replaced by coupons bearing the designation "3rd Qtr." July 1 through Sept. 30, the Office of Price Administration announced today.

These coupons, used by truckers, taxicabs and other commercial operators, become invalid at the end of each quarter, and "left-overs are not usable," OPA explained.

Match their sacrifice first...

then say you've done all you can!

Too many people are saying "We're doing all we can do... we can't possibly buy ANOTHER bond"... but are they? Have they struggled against the hard-fighting enemy until they fell where they were... utterly exhausted? That's really giving all you have... that is doing everything possible... but nothing short of such an all-out effort is real sacrifice. What if you do have to watch the pennies a little closer, do without some of the things you like? It is worth that and much more to be an American... in Ohio.

DO YOU KNOW THESE 5 FACTS ABOUT WAR BONDS?

1. War Bonds cost $18.75 for which you receive $25 in 10 years — or $4 for every $3.
2. War Bonds are the world's safest investment—guaranteed by the United States Government.
3. War Bonds can be made out in 1 name — or in 2, as co-owners.
4. War Bonds CANNOT go down in value. If they are lost, the Government will issue new ones.
5. War Bonds can be redeemed, in case of necessity, after 60 days.

Buy Bonds...and keep on buying!

New Anti-Aircraft Giant Can Outreach High-Flying Planes

(By Associated Press)
ERIE PROVING GROUNDS, La-carne, O., June 29.—Capable of outreaching the highest-flying bombers, a new anti-aircraft giant has been sent by the United States Army to clear the skies of enemy planes.
Army ordnance experts at this Lake Erie testing grounds today took the wraps from the mogul, a 120 millimeter anti-aircraft cannon, bigger by far than any other similar armament known.
Newsman saw a demonstration of the 30-ton mobile monster, its remote control apparatus operating with the delicate touch of a fine watch, as it sped destruction at a potential rate of 12 shells a minute.
Newest feature of the mogul is an automatic rammer, which sets a 50-pound shell in the breech, adjusts its fuse and rams home a semi-fixed charge of powder.
Assembled in Grand Rapids, Mich., the gun costs more than $100,000 per unit, according to Col.
F. E. Rundell, commander of the proving grounds.

'Election' Song Banned

NEW YORK, June 29.—"Don't Change Horses," described by its authors as a typical pin alley song of the "Don't Leave Your Sweetheart" theme, has been banned by the four major radio networks for at least the duration of the political conventions on the basis of its possible election implications.
Written by the authors of the tune "Mairzy Doots," Al Hoffman, Milton Drake and Jerry Livingston, the novelty number has been broadcast several times during the past weeks.

Tax Statements In Mail For District

Deputy Treasurer Vincent C.
Judge announced today that tax statements have been mailed for Salem city and Perry and Butler townships.
This completes the county with the exception of East Liverpool, where the property reappraisal is not expected to be completed for three weeks.
Residents of the townships who have received their statements have three weeks to pay their taxes before the July 22 deadline.
Judge explained that all property is listed on the treasurer's duplicate by the name under which it appears on the auditor's records as of tax day in any respective year.
Tax day is determined by law and is always the day preceding the second Monday of April.
In 1943, the year for which taxes are now being collected, tax day was established as April 11. Any transfer of property which occurred after that date therefore would not be listed on the current tax duplicate under the name of the new owner, but would be shown under the caption of the former owner.

COLUMBUS

"Anyhow," chimed in Lawyer Arthur D. Simmons, "we'll have a real vice president for once and already he has placed Mt. Sterling on the map."
Excitement, however, began to override disappointment as friends of the governor spoke of plans for a celebration.

Miss Florence Alkire, one of the town's leaders, said there would be a demonstration in the near future but details probably would await consideration by the governor.
Talk of celebration brought a glow of pleasure to the eyes of 61-year-old Leslie Bricker, a first cousin to the governor. Leslie and John's mothers were sisters and their fathers were brothers. Leslie, who, as one neighbor put it, is the "spitting image" of Ohio's handsome governor, said:
"We're just common people and this is a great day for us."

Meanwhile, in Columbus a tremendous ovation was planned for the Brickers when their train arrives from Chicago tonight. A brass band will be on hand to greet them and a torchlight parade will escort them to the executive mansion.

Sheriff Is Penalized

COLUMBUS, June 29.—The Linden ration board announced today following a public hearing that it had suspended for four months A.
and C. gasoline books issued for Sheriff Jacob E. Sandusky's private automobile.
The board acted last night after receiving from the sheriff a statement in which it said he admitted using his car to drive to Arizona to see his son commissioned an air force officer. The board ruled Sandusky used rations illegally.

Timken CIO Unionists Seek WLB Arbitrator

(By Associated Press)
CANTON, June 29.—Striking CIO unionists at the Timken Roller Bearing Co.'s bearing division today called upon the National War Labor board to appoint a permanent arbitrator to handle company-union disputes because of "a complete breakdown in labor relations."

Officials of the United Steelworkers of America issued the following statement after a mass meeting:

"After recurring protest stoppages in the Timken plants and continuous appeals to the appropriate government agencies to intercede, the inevitable has taken place—a complete breakdown in labor relations."

"It is quite evident after a meeting of three hours' duration, that it was the expressed unanimous opinion that the only solution to the problem is for the national war labor board to now assume direction of labor relations in Timken properties through the appointment of a permanent arbitrator."

President Finas Reynolds of the union local said the workers left their jobs yesterday because the company refused to allow them to attend a special union meeting.

The Regional War Labor board at Cleveland issued a back-to-work order and advised the unionists that a scheduled July 5 hearing on grievances would be postponed unless full production is restored.

A company spokesman reported 3,483 workers in the bearing division had walked out. He added no permanent government arbitrator was necessary and that the company-union contract provided ample means for arbitration and settlement of disputes if the union were willing to follow the procedure.

ONE-MAN RULE

2. The present military high command is "doing a superb job" and should be allowed to continue without any civilian interference.

3. The administration now is beset by internal squabbles and feuds —"wragling, bungling and confusion."

In seven pre-war years of "unequalled power and unparallel-led spending, the New Deal failed utterly to solve" the fundamental problem of providing jobs and opportunity. It has lived in "chattering fear of abundance," specializing in curtailment and restriction."

4. "This must be a land where every man and woman has a fair chance to work and get ahead."
we Republicans are agreed that full employment shall be a first objective of national policy."

Dewey departed from his prepared speech to the convention to say he is "happy and proud to be associated with my good friend from the state of Ohio, John W.
Bricker."

Of the man he beat out for the nomination, then accepted as a running mate, Dewey said:
"Never before have I seen such good statesmanship and good sportsmanship as that displayed by John Bricker here this morning and I am proud to be associated with him."

speech. Bricker was first to congratulate Dewey when he had finished.
Upon their return to their hotel,
Gov. and Mrs. Bricker attended a reception by Dewey for members of the national committee.

As a campaign finale, Bricker gave a dinner for his campaign managers and members of the headquarters staff, which also was attended by Mrs. Bricker and Jack.

The governor is scheduled to vacation in the Black Hills next week. Nels Smith, former governor of Wyoming, reported last night.
Smith said Bricker would be a guest at ranch "A" near Sundance, Wyo., and would attend the Black Hills roundup at Belle Fourche, S. D., July 4. He said
Bricker would come to Rapid City,
S. D., by plane Sunday.

INSULATED— BUT HOW?

Remember—there is no magic in the word "Insulation"

Before you insulate your home, be sure of an adequate insulation job by asking yourself these 6 questions:

- 1.—How Thick is the Insulation?
Thin insulation is only partially effective . . . Insist on a Full Thick Johns-Manville "Blown" Rock Wool job. All Home Insulation Co.'s Blown Rock Wool jobs conform to the U. S. Government standards for optimum operating efficiency of mineral wool.
- 2.—How Efficient Is It?
J-M Blown Rock Wool has a heat resistance per inch of thickness equal to or better than any home insulating material on the market.
- 3.—Is It Fireproof and Permanent?
J. M. "Blown" Rock Wool is a pure mineral wool, made from rock . . . won't burn, rot or decay. Demand a fireproof insulation; don't be misled by claims of "fire-resistant", etc.
- 4.—Can the Complete Home Be Satisfactorily Insulated?
Hundreds of home owners in the Salem area alone can testify to the complete and satisfactory insulation of their SIDE WALLS, as well as ceiling areas. The George Washington Shrine at Mount Vernon was insulated with mixed wool on the recommendation of the U. S. Government National Bureau of Standards.
- 5.—What Type of Insulation is Preferable?
The United States Government Department of the Interior states, "Generally, mineral materials are preferable because of their resistance to fire, electrical short circuits, moisture, termites, vermin and decay."—U. S. Bureau of Mines, Circular 7166.)
- 6.—How Reliable Is the Company Behind the Product?
Johns-Manville pioneered the blown rock wool industry, and for 25 years has been the insulation industry's leader. The Home Insulation Co. of Youngstown, has an exclusive contract with Johns-Manville for installation of their Type A "Block" Rock Wool in this area.

New Ceiling Prices On Autos Expected To Show Reductions

CLEVELAND, June 29.—A substantial rollback in the prices of used cars is expected to result after July 10 when the new used car ceiling price regulation goes into effect. It was asserted today by Clinton M. Fiske, district director of the Office of Price Administration.

With ceilings for more than 6,000 models of 23 makes manufactured since 1937 set on a dollar basis at levels of last January, sharp reductions will be made in some of the inflated prices of recent months, Fiske declared.

Explaining that qualified members of price panels at local War Price and Rationing boards are being designated to administer the new regulation in their communities, the director said OPA is working out careful plans to see that administration and enforcement of used car ceilings is carried out in a uniform and efficient manner. An advisory member of each price panel, qualified by experience and training, will be appointed by the board chairman to assist with this work in his board.

All buyers and sellers, whether dealers or private individuals, come under the regulation. The price panels will supply buyers and sellers complete information on the exact ceiling prices for each make and model of car.

The regulation provides a "base price" for individuals and others who do not operate repair shops, and a higher "warranted price" ceiling for dealers who do maintain repair shops and sell cars that are guaranteed for 30 days or 1,000 miles. Only dealers may sell at the warranted price.

Household Hints

To extract onion juice cut onion in half and scrape the cut side gently with edge of teaspoon.

Before washing overalls, remove buckles that may cut fabric or get into rollers of the wringer.

Clogged soil in comb teeth should be removed by loosening with a brush, washing thoroughly in lukewarm suds, rinsing and drying.

Beet greens are attractive served with or without the beets, and are a wonderful source of riboflavin, a vitamin not so easily obtained in sufficient quantity.

National League's War Relief Games Yesterday Successful

RAISE ESTIMATED $80,000 IN FRAYS IN WESTERN PARKS

St. Louis Cardinals Lose Before Their Largest Home Crowd

By JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer
War Relief picked up an estimated $80,000 today from the first four major league fund games, but Chicago Cardinals just picked up a check for two more black marks in the loss column.

Lanier worked only six and two thirds innings last night but he was beaten by the Phillies, 4-0, and charged with another 6-5 defeat in a continuation of a May 16 "suspended" game.

The largest crowd of the St. Louis season, 24,882, turned out for the novel doubleheader but Ken Raffensberger of the Phils spoiled their fun with a neat four-hit job in the regulation game after Charley Schanz picked up where he had left off in the "suspended" tilt to notch his sixth victory.

Bill Nicholson continued his mid-season rush toward the home run and runs batted in leadership by lashing his 13th and 14th circuit clouts and driving in five runs as Chicago whipped Brooklyn twice, 12-6 and 6-2 before 16,332 who paid $15,887.99 into the War fund. Bob Chipman and Hank Wyse were the winners over Whit Wyatt and Hal Gregg.

The New York Giants' western trip started on a sour note as the Pittsburgh Pirates clubbed out a 9-2 edge for Max Butcher to hand Rube Fischer his sixth setback before 18,479 who dumped an estimated $20,000 into the fund.

Dain Clay's 10th inning single in the opener and Estel Crabtree's pinch single in the nightcap gave Cincinnati a double-decker win over Boston, 4-3 and 3-2 behind Jim Konstanty and Arnold Carter. Al Javery and Nate Andrews were the Boston losers.

The Yankee stadium "jinx" struck down the St. Louis Browns who bowed before Atley Donald's talented curving, 7-2. Bob Muncrief's six-game win streak was snapped by the New Yorkers.

Don Black kept Philadelphia out of the American league cellar by scattering eight hits for win No. 5 by a 7-3 margin over Cleveland's Vern Kennedy and Washington's Niggling turned back Detroit with three scratchy hits to decision Rufe Gentry, 4-1, and dump the Tigers into seventh place.

Manager Joe Cronin's seventh inning double earned Chicago, giving Joe Bowman his sixth win and Orval Groves his sixth setback.

The brink of Niagara Falls is moving back about two and a half feet a year.

Denver has a city-owned park of 25,000 acres.

Salem Rally Falls Short, Carrollton Merchants Win Game At Centennial, 4-3

Falling one run short after a stirring last frame rally in a seven-inning contest, the Salem Athletics dropped their third game in seven, 4-3, yesterday to the powerful Carrollton Merchants at Centennial park.

Although the locals pounded opposing pitchers for more hits than Bill Allison and Walt Snyder gave up, and made a serious threat—two big tallies—in the last half of the last inning, the early lead piled up by the Merchants was just a bit too much.

Three Scoreless Frames

For the initial three innings it was anybody's game, as neither side could muster a score. However, Carrollton broke loose in the fourth for a single marker and boosted that to three in the fifth. With the score 3-0 Salem copped their first score in their half of the fourth.

Another pair of runs came in the last inning for Salem, but the visitors put themselves in safe territory by scoring one more just before the local rally began.

Three Salem men, Scullion, Stratton and Ehrhart, accounted for six of the eight Salem hits. Each collected two safeties. Salem committed two errors and the Merchants one.

Score With Two Out

The pair of Carrollton runs in the fifth inning, which proved to be the deciding factor in the game, were scored after two men were out and after a third had been declared out and then the decision reversed. The odd decision arose on an infield fly with men on first and second and one batter out. Umpire Ted Scott declared the batter automatically out and Shortstop Harry Ehrhart, noticing the runner off second base, touched the bag after catching the fly.

However, the ruling of the official said the runner had to be tagged by the shortstop because it was an automatic out and not a putout on the fly and play was resumed with just two out. Two singles by the Merchants then scored the two runs. The lineups:

U. S. Prisoners of War

Go For Miniature Golf

NEW YORK—The National War Fund reports the establishment by American prisoners of the "barbed wire country club" at an unidentified Nazi internment camp. The "course" is a miniature layout. A great variety of athletic equipment has been supplied by War Prisoners Aid for prisoners of war, but this is the first time that golf equipment has been sought. Several sets of golf clubs and equipment suitable for miniature play have been shipped overseas.

"CALAMITY TOWN" by ELLERY QUEEN

©1943 LITTLE BROWN & CO. DISTRIBUTED BY KING FEATURES SYNDICATE

SYNOPSIS
Incognito as "Ellery Smith," Mr. Queen is visiting war industrial Wrightsville to glean color for another novel. He leased a house from John F. Wright, a local banker, which had been designed by the latter and his wife, Hermione, as a honeymoon home for their eldest daughter, Nora. Her fiancé, James Haight had disappeared on the eve of the wedding. Her sister, Lola, lives apart from the family; she had eloped and returned divorced. The youngest Miss Wright, Patricia, is "going with" the county prosecutor, Carter Bradford. Author "Smith" is in the process of being made a literary lion by Mrs. "Hermione" Wright. Ellery likes the Wrights and his new quarters, though local gossip calls it "Calamity House." One day, "Pat" tells Ellery that "Jim Haight's back!"

CHAPTER SEVEN
Pat stared. "Imagine — after three years! After the way Jim ran out on Nora! I can't believe it yet. He looks so much older. . . . He had to see Nora, he yelled. Where was she? Why didn't she come down? Yes, he knew what Muth and Pop thought of him, but that could wait—where was Nora? And all the time he kept shaking his fist in poor Pop's face, and hopping up and down on one foot like a maniac!"

"What happened then?"
"I ran upstairs to tell Nora. She went deathly pale and plopped down on her bed. She said: 'Jim?' and started to bawl. Said she'd rather be dead, and why hadn't he stayed away, and she wouldn't see him if he came crawling to her on his hands and knees—the usual tripe. Poor Nora!"

Pat was near tears herself.
"I knew it was no good arguing with her—Nora's awfully stubborn when she wants to be. So I told Jim, and he got even more excited and wanted to run upstairs. Pop got mad and waved his best masher near the foot of the stairs, like Horatius at the bridge, and ordered Jim out of the house, and—well, Jim would have had to knock Pop down to get by him, so he ran out of the house screaming that he'd see Nora if he had to throw bombs to get in. And all the time I was trying to revive Muth, who'd fainted I've got to get back!"

Pat ran off. "The she stopped and turned around. 'Why in heaven's name,' she asked slowly, 'do I come running to you with such intimate details of my family's affairs?'"

"Maybe," grinned Ellery, "because I have a kind face."
Pat bit her lip, a faint blush staining her tan. Then she loped away.

Mr. Queen lit a cigaret with fingers not quite steady. Despite the heat, he felt chilled suddenly. He threw the unsmoked butt into the grass and went into the house to haul out his typewriter.

Gabby Warrum, the veteran railroad station agent, saw Jim Haight get off the train. Gabby told Emmeline DuPre.
By the time Ed Hotchkiss dropped Jim off at Upham House (where for old times' sake Haight managed to wangle a bed), Emmy DuPre had phoned nearly everyone in town who wasn't picnicking in Pine Grove or swimming in Slocum Lake.

Opinion, as Mr. Queen ascertained by prowling around town Monday and keeping his ears open, was divided: J. C. Pettigrew, Donald Mackenzie, and the rest of the Rotary bunch, who were half-Country Club and half-tradespeople, generally opined that Jim Haight ought to be run out on a rail. The ladies were stoutly against this: Jim was a nice young man; whatever'd happened between him and Nora Wright three years ago wasn't his fault.

Frank Lloyd disappeared. Phinny Baker said his boss had gone on a hunting trip up in the Mahogonies. Emmeline DuPre sniffed. "It's funny Frank Lloyd should go hunting the very next morning after James Haight gets back to Wrightsville. Ran away, of course!"

Emmy was disappointed that Frank hadn't taken one of his deer rifles and gone stalking through the streets of Wrightsville for Jim, like Owen Wister's Virginian.

The yeast in all this ferment acted strangely. Having returned to Wrightsville, Jim Haight shut himself up in his room at Upham House; he even had his meals served there, according to Ma Upham. Whereas Nora Wright began to show herself!

Not in public, of course. But on Monday afternoon she watched Pat and Ellery play tennis on the grass court behind the Wright house, lying in a deck chair in the sun, her eyes protected by dark glasses hooked over her spectacles; and she kept smiling faintly. That evening she strolled over with Pat and a hostile Carter Bradford "to see how you're coming along with your book, Mr. Smith." Ellery had Alberta Manaskas serve tea and oatmeal cookies; he treated Nora quite as if she were in the habit of dropping in. And then on Tuesday night. . . .

That was bridge night at the Wrights. Carter Bradford and Pat paired against Hermione and John F. . . . Hermie thought it might be nice to have Mr. Smith in to make a fifth; and Ellery accepted with alacrity.

"I'd much rather watch tonight," volunteered Pat. "Carter dear—you and Pop against Ellery and Mother."

"Come on, come on, we're losing time," said John F. "Stakes, Smith? It's your option."

"Makes no difference to me," answered Ellery. "Suppose I toss the honor over to Bradford."

"In that case," said Hermie quickly, "let's play for a tenth. Carter, why don't they pay prosecutors more?" Then she brightened. "When you're Governor. . . ."

"Penny a point," declared Carter; his lean face was crimson.
"But Cart, I didn't mean—" wailed Hermione.
"If Cart wants to play for a cent, by all means play for a cent," said Pat firmly. "I'm sure he'll win!"
"Hello," sounded a pleasant voice. "Nora had not come down to dinner—Hermie had said something about a 'headache.' Now Nora was smiling at them from the foyer. She came in with a basket of knitting and sat down in the big chair under a piano lamp.

Mr. and Mrs. Wright exchanged startled glances, and Pat absently began to ruffle Ellery's hair.

"Play cards," said Carter in a smothered voice.
The game began under what seemed to Ellery promising circumstances, considering the warm vital hand in his hair and his rival's outthrust lower lip. Indeed, after two rubbers Cart slammed his cards down on the table.

"Why, Cart!" gasped Pat.
"Carter Bradford," declared Hermie, "I never heard—"

"What on earth?" said John F., staring at him.
"If you'd stop jumping around,

Pat," cried Carter, "I'd be able to concentrate on this game!"
"Jumping around?" said Pat indignantly. "Cart Bradford, I've been sitting here on the arm of Ellery's chair all evening not saying a word!"

"If you want to play with his hair," roared Cart, "why don't you take him outside under the moon?"

Pat turned the machine-gun of her eyes on him. Then she said contritely to Ellery: "I'm sure you will forgive Cart's bad manners. He's been associating with hardened criminals so much—"

At that moment, Nora uttered a stifled cry.
Jim Haight stood in the archway.

Women Everywhere

BANDON, Ore. — There's hardly any place now where you won't find women working. When the U. S. Engineers sent the harbor survey tug Kalama to take soundings in the Bandon harbor, six girls composed the technical crew. The young women knew their work thoroughly, according to the skipper.
